

BY DESIGN:

PUBLIC LIBRARY PLACES AND SPACES IN AUSTRALIA AND NEW ZEALAND

a conference for local government, public librarians, directors of community services, architects, interior designers, library suppliers, and others who seek to provide better public library places and spaces for all in their communities

This ninth of the highly rated annual Auslib conferences will help public library decision makers in Australia and New Zealand to plan for new and redeveloped library places and spaces in the context of their growing valuation as the community's third place after home and school or work, and as centres for community connection, reading, learning and creativity

Program

By Design will have a tightly focused program of 20 international, Australian and New Zealand speakers, two Q&A panel sessions, targeted recommendations, and an information folder including a copy of the new edition of People places: a guide for public library buildings in NSW. It will explore

- the diversity of the roles and services of today's and future public libraries
- the implications of this for the public library's location, accessibility, spaces and places
- innovation and best practice in public library location, architecture, interior design, technology and facilities

When

- optional half day preconference study tour of newer public libraries in Sydney hosted by the State Library of NSW Wednesday 13 November 2013 12noon-5.00pm
- conference Thursday 14 November – Friday 15 November 2013
- optional half day postconference workshop 'Customer centred library design' conducted by Rachel Van Riel, Director of the UK's Opening the Book Ltd , Saturday 16 November 2013 9.00am-1.00pm
